The Text Books will be changed, whenever, in the judgment of the Faculty, it shall be deemed advisable.

By a regulation of the Board of Trustees, candidates for the ministry, who are in straitened circumstances, receive their tuition gratuitously, without preference of denomination,

ADMISSION.

In order to admission to the College, the candidate must be at least fourteen years of age, must give satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and must sustain, before the Faculty, an examination in the following studies, viz :—Arithmetic, Elements of Algebra, Latin and Greek Grammar, Jacob's or Felton's Greek Reader, and the first two books of Xenophon's Anabasis, Jacob's and Dœring's Latin Reader, Sallust or Cæsar, Cicero's Select Orations, and Virgil, or what shall be considered equivalent. For admission to an advanced class, a corresponding age and amount of knowledge will be required.

Besides regular students, who pursue the whole course required for a degree, irregular students are admitted, in order to pursue a partial course under the direction of the Faculty.

Students from other Colleges, on presenting a regular certificate of dismission, will be admitted to the corresponding standing in this without examination.

The regular times for admission are on the day preceding the annual commencement, and on the first day of the Fall session.

But candidates can be admitted upon examination or certificate at any time during either of the sessions. It is earnestly recommended, however, that, when it is possible, the application be made at the commencement of a term.

TERMS.

There are three terms or sessions. The first, or Fall term, commences at the close of the Summer vacation, on the first Thursday of September, and continues 16 weeks; the second, or Winter Term, begins the first Thursday in January, and continues 12 weeks, or to the first Thursday in April; the third, or Summer Term, will commence on the last Thursday of April, and continue 12 weeks, or till the third Wednesday in July.

A student who does not return punctually at the commencement of the Term, forfeits his room, and cannot take his place in his class unless he present a satisfactory excuse from his parent or guardian, and sustain an examination in the studies pursued by the class during his absence. The same rule applies to such as lose any part of their course by absence during the term, unless specially excused by the Faculty.

ENTRANCE FEE: If the Student enter as Freshman, $5 00; if as Sophomore, $10 00; if as Junior, $15 00; and if as Senior, $20 00.

Of the above charges, however, that for tuition may be remitted to students designed for the Ministry.

The fee for instruction in the course of Practical Mathematics is $30 00 per annum; for instruction in Modern Languages $25 00; payment to be made for each session in advance.

Damages are assessed on the perpetrators, if discovered; otherwise, on all the students.

Board may be had, in respectable families, in the Village, at from $1 75, to $2 00 per week; or in Club, from $1 00 to $1 25.

Washing will cost from $12 to $20 a year.

N. B. To prevent unnecessary expenses, as well as for other important purposes, it is recommended that every Student from a distance, especially if young, be placed under the care of some officer of the College, or other resident of the village, who will attend to the appropriation of his money, and the payment of his bills.

PAYMENT.

All College dues, for each term, must be paid in advance. The Treasurer's receipt must be exhibited to the President, before the student can be admitted to his recitations. Students entering before the middle of the term will be charged with full Tuition, Room-Rent, and other items, for the term. When entering at or after the middle of a term, with one-half such Tuition, Room Rent, &c.

If a student be removed from the College by his Parent or Guardian, by the Faculty, or by sickness or other casualty, before the middle of the term, the money paid by him for the latter half will be refunded; otherwise not.

RESIDENCE.

At College students are required to occupy rooms in the College building, unless for special reasons permitted to room elsewhere by the Faculty, and at a place approved by them; and no student is permitted to occupy or change a room without leave of the Faculty. Each student must provide the furniture necessary for his own accommodation, including a stove.

LECTURES.

Lectures are delivered on the following subjects:

On Metaphysics, the Moral Sense, Criticism, Politics, and Habits of Study, by the President.

On Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and the Useful Arts, by Professor Norton.

On Greek and Latin Literature and Archæology, Comparative Philology, and the Fine Arts, by Professor Wallace.

On Chemistry and Geology by Mr. Horsford.

On English Literature, Modern Foreign Literature and Oratory, by Professor Porter.

EXAMINATIONS.

At the close of each study, or branch of study, the members of the class are carefully examined in public, and at the close of each year, the students are examined in all the studies pursued by them from their admission up to that time, in the presence of a Committee of the Trustees, and their attainments are communicated to the Board of Trustees. The names of such as stand, according to the examination, in the first and second classes, are read in public by the President at commencement—the names of the first class being, moreover, distinguished by a mark of honor in the printed catalogues and schemes.

Committee of Examination for the present College year; Rev. Joel Parker, D. D., Rev. James G. Hamner, D. D., Rev. Alfred Hamilton, Hon. George B. Rodney, Charles Marim, Esq.

EXHIBITIONS.

There will be an exhibition of the Sophomore class, on the last day of the winter term, and another of the Junior class on the evening before commencement.

COMMENCEMENT.

On the third Wednesday of July.

VACATIONS.

After the Fall session, two weeks (including Christmas and New Year;) after the Winter session, four weeks, from the last of March to the last of April; after Commencement, six weeks.

On the Fourth of July, and on days that may be set apart by civil authority, and the Saturday afternoon of each week, no recitations are required of the students.

MODE OF INSTRUCTION.

Instruction is given by text-books, lectures, and familiar remarks and illustrations on each lesson recited. The character of each recitation is noted, and the result is stated in a circular sent at the close of the third session to the Parent or Guardian.

Particular care is taken to teach correct, natural and impressive elocution, especially in the public delivery of original composition.

CHEMISTRY.

Chemistry is taught chiefly by experimental lectures. The class repeat individually, with apparatus and substances of their own, and in a separate laboratory, the experiments of the College Instructor; and, under his supervision, lecture daily to one another on the several topics embraced in the course. At the close of the course a public examination is held, at which lectures are given by the different members of the class upon the particular subjects studied.

LIBRARY.

The Library consists of a collection of choice and useful publications, amounting to about 2500 volumes, and is continually increased from annual appropriations. The Libraries of the two Literary Societies contain, each, about 1000 volumes.

PHILOSOPHICAL APPARATUS.

The Philosophical apparatus is already good, but will soon be much increased and improved.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

In addition to daily morning and evening prayers, divine worship is attended twice on every Sunday, and the recitation on Monday morning is always in the Greek Testament. At the request of his parent or guardian a student is permitted to attend any place of worship, which himself, or the parent or guardian may select.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline is administered by the Faculty. The object is to join, as much as possible, mildness with effectiveness; to prevent rather than to punish offences; to govern by the inculcation of correct principles more than by mere coercion. Extreme punishments involving disgrace are resorted to as seldom as possible. If immediate action be not necessary, the parent or guardian is generally informed of the misconduct, and advised to remove the delinquent. For the purpose of exercising greater vigilance, two members of the Faculty reside in the same building with the students.

No student is allowed to visit taverns, or other places of resort, that might injuriously affect his morals.

Particular note is taken of the conduct of each student, and the result for each session communicated in the Circular to the Parent or Guardian.

PROSPECTS OF THE INSTITUTION.

Beside the other sources of patronage, the Faculty are happy to state that the Synods of Virginia and Pennsylvania, at their late meetings, adopted Resolutions to throw their special patronage into this College, and also to make immediate efforts to raise the sum of $60,000, for the further endowment of the Institution.

The sums first raised from this source, to the amount of several thousand dollars, it is expected will be appropriated to the increase of the Philosophical Apparatus and Library.

ACADEMICAL DEPARTMENT.

By a late reorganization of this Department of DELAWARE COLLEGE, the Board of Trustees have taken measures to place it upon a new and improved foundation, and to endow it with advantages possessed, by few similar institutions in the country. The Academy heretofore merged in the College, and of course subjected to all the evils which have been found to attend the amalgamation of the two departments in the same building, and under the same government, now enjoys the privileges of a separate establishment, without losing those which result from its relation to the College proper.

A LARGE AND ELEGANT EDIFICE, with all the necessary fixtures of a complete Boarding establishment, has been erected and furnished, in which the students of the Academy board, under the immediate charge of the Principal and his Assistants; and all its exercises are conducted on a system of its own, uninterrupted by the interests or operations of the other Department. The furniture of the study-rooms and dormitories has been chosen with peculiar reference to comfort and convenience for study; and expense has not been spared in providing the apparatus necessary to render the means of instruction complete.

Since the opening of the new building, in the fall of 1841, the number of students has rapidly increased, surpassing the expectations of the most sanguine friends of the institution, and creating a demand for still larger accommodations. A second building therefore was erected and furnished for the reception of students at the opening of the winter session of 1842; giving to Newark Academy facilities for private study and comfortable accommodation of students, fully equal to those afforded by many of our colleges.

FROM ITS RELATION TO THE COLLEGE, students of the Academy enjoy many advantages not generally obtained at institutions of this kind.—Those who wish to pursue some particular branch which falls more properly within the College course, may be admitted, as irregular students, to recite in any of the College classes. Students also of proper age and discretion, by recommendation of the Principal and permission of the Faculty, may enjoy the use of the College Library without additional charge. Admission also may be had to the Lectures and such other privileges of the College as can be profitably enjoyed by academical students.

THE COURSE OF INSTRUCTION

Includes the various branches of a Substantial English Education as well as the usual preparation for College.

THE ENGLISH COURSE

Includes Reading, Orthography, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Geography, English Grammar, Geometry, Mensuration, Surveying, Algebra, Book Keeping, History, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Composition and Elocution.

Vocal Music will be taught without additional charge, as one of the regular exercises of the School. Instruction on the Flute, Violin, &c., will also be given to those who desire it, in hours not allotted to study.

THE CLASSICAL COURSE.

First Lessons in Latin, (Andrews')—Latin Grammar, (Andrews' and Stoddard's)—Writing Latin, (Andrews' Exercises,) Jacobs' and Doering's Latin Reader, (Andrew's Edition)—Cornelius Nepos, Sallust, (Anthon's)—Virgil, (Cooper's or Gould's)—Cicero's Orations, (Abbott's)—First Lessons in Greek, (Sophocles')—Greek Grammar, (Sophocles')—Greek Reader, (Felton's)—Greek Exercises, (Sophocles')—Greek Testament every Monday morning.—Gardiner's Abridgement of Leverett's Latin Lexicon, and Donnegan's Greek Lexicon, are particularly recommended.

In the Classical Course, which is conducted mainly by the Principal, a particular object is to secure from the commencement a correct pronunciation, as well as a general and thorough training in the principles and forms of the Grammar.

COURSE OF MODERN LANGUAGES.

In this Department, those students who wish to take a thorough course have an opportunity of doing so; whilst others, whose object may be to acquire sufficient knowledge to translate with facility and to pronounce with tolerable correctness in as short time as possible, are also provided for. The text books are furnished by the Professor.

TERMS.

There are two terms or sessions; the first commencing on the fourth Wednesday of April, and continuing twenty-one weeks; the second commencing on the fourth Wednesday of October, and continuing twenty-one weeks. The proper time to enter is at the beginning or middle of a session, but admission may be obtained at other times, if desired. It is important that students for the whole session be present at the formation of the classes on the first or second day of the term. Besides the opportunity of selecting a room, it is no inconsiderable advantage to obtain a fair start with the various classes in the studies to be pursued.

EXPENSES.

The Charge for Boarding, Washing, Fuel, Light, &c., with tuition in English, Latin, and Greek, is $70 for the Summer Session, and $75 for the Winter Session. The only extras are $2 for the use of Library and incidental expenses; and a fee of $10 to the Professor of Modern Languages from those who enter any of his classes. Those who study in their rooms during the winter term, will also incur their proportion of the expense of a private fire. The bill for each term must be paid in advance; and in case of absence occasioned by sickness, when such absence amounts to one-fourth of the term, the proper portion will be refunded. Those who enter before the middle of a term will pay for the tuition for the whole term: those who enter after the middle, for tuition for half the term. No reduction will be made in any of the charges for less than one quarter of a session.

RESIDENCE.

All the Students are required to board and occupy rooms in the Academy buildings, unless for special reasons permitted to board or room elsewhere by the Faculty. Tuition to those who board out of the Academy (those who live with their parents or relations only excepted) will be $20 per session. All the furniture necessary for the accommodation of the pupil is furnished by the Principal.

GOVERNMENT.

The Government of the school shall be gentle but decided; and shall be maintained by appeals to the affections, the conscience, and honorable feelings of the pupil, rather than by less noble and more violent means. The experience of several years has convinced the Principal that, in nine cases out of ten, a proper development and cultivation of the better qualities of the heart will more effectually bind a pupil to his teacher, and secure obedience, in presence and in absence, than any other means whatever. By such a course of discipline, not only are all the ends of government secured, but the pupil receives a moral training, for which, when neglected, as it too frequently is, no intellectual advantages can compensate. In the rare cases, however, in which it is necessary, severe means will be employed. Whilst particular attention will be paid to the morals and health of the pupil, a prominent object will be to make SCHOLARS.—To every student will be assigned recitations sufficient, in the judgment of the teacher, to occupy the hours allotted to study; and in no case will such recitations be received without being thoroughly prepared. This has been and shall continue to be, an inviolable principle in conducting the school; and he therefore does not hesitate to pledge himself to parents and guardians who may place their boys under his charge, that, where natural defect or sickness does not interfere, his scholars shall make a CONSTANT, REAL and HONORABLE advance in all their studies. Idleness or immorality will not be tolerated. No student will be retained whose conduct furnishes an example dangerous to the morals of his companions, or whose progress in study is not deemed sufficient to justify the expenses incurred.

REPORTS.

A Report will be sent, at the close of every session to the parents or guardian of each pupil, presenting a faithful account of his INDUSTRY, SCHOLARSHIP, and GENERAL DEPORTMENT. These reports will be carefully made out from records preserved of all the particular recitations and delinquencies of the pupil. Parents will thus have the satisfaction of knowing the exact standing and improvement of their children; and they in return, will have the advantage and encouragement of knowing themselves still under the eyes of their parents. Notice moreover will be given by letter to the parents of the younger pupils from time to time of their progress and conduct.

PRIVATE STUDY.

The rooms are furnished, as in colleges, for private study. This privilege will be granted to such older students as prefer it, and whose studious habits and general good conduct will justify it. Bad recitations or disorder in rooms will, however, be sufficient reason at any time for requiring a student to remain in the school-room.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

Morning and evening worship is maintained in the school-room, which all the students are required to attend. On Sunday, students will attend public worship conducted by the President of the College, in the forenoon, and a Bible recitation in the afternoon. In the evening, those who wish can attend church in the Village, wherever the Parent or Guardian may direct.

VACATIONS.

There are two Vacations of five weeks each—the first commencing with the fourth Wednesday of March, and the second with the third Wednesday of September.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE SMALLER BOYS.

The Smaller Boys will room in the Main Building, under the immediate charge of an experienced Matron, whose special province it will be to attend to the rooms, clothes, and persons of those entrusted to her care. Their studies and recitations will proceed under the eye of their teachers, in the School Room, during the day and in the evening. By this arrangement, the neatness, health and comfort of the younger pupils will be effectually secured whilst their industry and improvement will receive the immediate and constant attention which their age requires.

There is also connected with the Institution a Gymnasium, where the boys may find exercise and sport in the stormiest weather.

EXAMINATIONS AND EXHIBITIONS.

An examination of all the students will be held at the close of each term, in the presence of the Faculty, the Trustees, and such other persons as may wish to attend. Exhibitions in Elocution and Music will also be given at the close of the Winter Sessions.

LIBRARY.

An Academical Library of several hundred volumes has been founded, and will be increased from time to time, which is accessible to all the students.

The College Library will also be opened to Academical students of proper age and discretion, by recommendation of the Principal and permission of the Faculty.

LOCATION.

Seated in a small village within half a mile of the Rail Road between Baltimore and Philadelphia, Newark Academy combines the great advantages of perfect retirement with ready access. The climate is one of well known and uncommon salubrity, and from the small number and the character of the population of Newark, there are few temptations to vice or extravagance. Endowed with rare advantages as an Academy, it enjoys peculiar additional privileges from its connection with the College, and offers them all at an expence one third less than the average standard of expenses in schools of its own rank.
